U.S. stocks fell for the first time in four days on concern that a slump in corporate profits will stretch into 2009, overshadowing speculation the government will revive the tax cuts. Earnings at S&P 500 companies probably fell 12 percent year-over-year last quarter and will drop 11 percent in the current period as the recession curbs costs, analysts estimate compiled by Bloomberg. Profits may decline another 6.2 percent in the second quarter, according to the estimates, before growing 12 percent in the
