

Stock Market INVESTING REMINDERS

Deal only with licensed agents and traders

Be sure to transact directly with a legitimate stockbrokerage firm or its licensed representative. When in doubt, you can always verify the agent or trader's affiliation through the stockbrokerage firm or request assistance from the PSE.

Pick a legitimate stockbroker

Open an account only with a PSE-accredited stockbrokerage company or Trading Participant (TP). A complete list of information about all the TPs who are authorized and qualified to trade securities can be found on the PSE website (www.pse.com.ph).

Customer Account Information Form

Submit requirements to accredited stockbroker

Submit the completed Customer Account Information Form and other required identification papers only to the stockbrokerage firm or its licensed representative.

Pay directly to the stockbrokerage firm

In issuing check payment for any completed transaction, make it payable under the stockbrokerage company's name. Similarly, remit cash payments directly to the stockbrokerage firm. Payments for stock transactions as well as other services must be covered by corresponding Official Receipts issued by the stockbrokerage firm. Investors should check their securities and cash positions as indicated in the monthly statements sent by the brokerage firm and to immediately alert the brokerage firm if there appears to be a discrepancy.

Be wary of agents' misleading claims on returns on investments

Report immediately agents or traders who make exaggerated, unwarranted and misleading claims related to returns on investments. Under the law*, brokers are prohibited from making assurances of specific results for which there is no reasonable basis.

Be informed and stay updated

Know your rights as an investor, and stay updated on the latest stock market news. Do not invest or trade based on rumors, inside information and other unreliable information. Investor information is accessible through the PSE website and the PSE EDGE or from your accredited stockbroker.
